Why Business Management?

Business graduates are in high demand worldwide because business touches basically every aspect of modern society. Business careers are diverse, and pay is good. Today's employers want well-rounded individuals who have the skills to meet the demands and expectations of today's global marketplace. SFCC's program helps you develop skills and competencies through rigorous curriculum and a hands-on internships where you apply the principles you've learned in the real world.

SFCC offers programs that not only lead to quick entry into the workforce but also can be used as a ladder to higher degrees with even more opportunities.

Employment opportunities include entry-level positions in banking, human resources management, insurance, retail and sales management, food service management, and business owner. Three Skills Certificates are offered to meet the growing need for trained office, retail and production supervisors.
